Italian Case Maker Looking For Local Distributors

By Azizul Ahmad

KUALA LUMPUR, April 21 (Bernama) -- Italian case maker, GT Line, is looking for local distributors to market its products in Malaysia.

Sales Director, Roberto Giudici, said due to large demand from end-users in Malaysia and expanding distribution in Asia, it is currently seeking the cooperation of a national partner distributor to represent its products in the national market.

Giudici told Bernama this on the sidelines of the 15th Defence Services Asia 2016 Exhibition and Conference (DSA 2016) here Thursday.

GT Line, founded in 1970 in Bologna, Italy, has for over 45 years been delivering products and solutions with brands such as 'GTLine' tool-cases, 'WorkLine' range of soft bags, and the latest brand, 'Explorer cases'.

Giudici said Explorer cases were a range of waterproof watertight cases made in copolymer polypropylene and were able to guarantee the best protection to whatever professional equipment carried in any journey around the world.

"We are now introducing our range of North Atlantic Treaty Organisation-certified cases to the military and law enforcement communities of Malaysia and South-East Asia at the DSA 2016 exhibition here," he said.
