Hosted, Supported & Co-organised by:

MINISTRY OF DEFENCE AND MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS

YB DATO' SRI IKMAL HISHAM BIN ABDUL AZIZ
DEPUTY MINISTER OF DEFENCE, MALAYSIA

Ensuring the safety and security of Malaysia and its people has always been our top priority. To do so, our ministry plays an important role in contributing towards technological advancements to ensure we are always ahead of the game.

The defence sector has always strived to gain access to the latest high-end technological systems in a bid to improve our aerospace, maritime, cyberspace and land security. In fact, most of the vital technological systems used today are a result of an in-depth research at the of cost billions Ringgit.

Research to introduce new innovations is a continuous process and with the increase of the defence budget 2021, we are able to continue to modernise our defence and security systems in keeping up with global trends.

In order to ensure that our country is able to cope with the current and future challenges, the Ministry itself has launched the Defence White Paper. This defence and security blueprint is drawn up to chart the course and direction for the country and to highlight areas of concern which needs further attention.

Cybercrime, is one such area that is an evolving threat. To combat this, we know that we cannot work alone. We need the help and support from all agencies involved including members of the public. It is crucial for the people to be our eyes and ears, to alert us and help us tackle new threats like these.

Time has proven that Defence Services Asia (DSA) is capable of raising the bar in the defence industry. Not just in Malaysia, but also in the ASEAN region. It has also brought about economic growth from the many partnerships and investment opportunities formed between local and foreign participants. I am confident that the upcoming DSA & NATSEC Asia 2022 will be no different.

I am exceptionally proud to be part of DSA & NATSEC Asia 2022, and I am looking forward to meeting the delegations and industry members from around the region.

Thank you.
